Highways + Railroads + Airport = Successful Logistics

Richland County Offers:

- Accessibility
- Lower Business Costs
- Ready Workforce

Accessibility

- Richland County has four I-71 interchanges, one or more of which can be accessed within 20 minutes from any place in the county. The recently expanded U.S. Route 30 now has four lanes to speed travel east and west.
- The rail network includes two class one railroads, Norfolk Southern and CSX, and Ashland Railway, a full-service shortline that interchanges with both.
- Mansfield Lahm Regional Airport is a general aviation facility serving business aircraft. It is also home to the Air National Guard's 179th Airlift Wing. Lahm boasts two runways, one of over 9000 feet in length and a second of nearly 7000 feet. It also has an FAA air traffic control tower, aircraft storage and a fixed base operator.

Lower Business Costs

- Richland County has multiple land sites and numerous industrial/business parks. Many sites are located at the four I-71 interchanges. You'll be pleased with the affordability of Richland County compared to many urban locations.
- Richland County is part of Foreign Trade Zone 181, and can offer all the benefits of an FTZ such as deferral, reduction or elimination of duties, reduction of excise taxes and zone to zone transfers. Additional incentives are available on a project by project basis.

A Ready Workforce and Exceptional Training Partners

- The Richland County workforce comes from across the region and is ready and available to meet the changing needs of today's companies. An exceptional array of training partners support the quality of that workforce including The Ohio State University at Mansfield, North Central State College and its Kehoe Center for Advanced Learning, and their Ohio Skills Banks partners from throughout this part of Ohio.
